SOURCE [REDACTED]

The biplanes stationed at the Magdeburg-Süd (M 53/D 69) airfield regularly made large-scale local flights in fair weather. The planes were parked in the hangar at night. The air force detail was still quartered on Hahnemannstrasse.

Comment:

The occupation of the airfield has apparently not changed in recent months. The missions of the small air force unit, the existence of which has been repeatedly reported, are unknown. It is considered possible that the planes are being used as courier planes for army units.
